Opening New Data Archives/Services

- ▶ New data archives/data services (DA/DS) be established in Western Balkan countries
 - ▶ Part of FP7 Capacities project SERSCIDA
 - ▶ main objectives that have been reached are:
 - support for establishment of social science DA/DS in order to increase the level of sharing and preserving data collected through research,
 - identified infrastructures, funding and policies for establishment of social science DA/DS,
 - enhanced the exchange of knowledge and social science data sharing in the WB countries and EU – CESSDA countries, and
 - increased level of understanding and support for open access policies.
 - ▶ implemented over 30 national and international projects; lead partner on SERSCIDA FP7 Capacities project

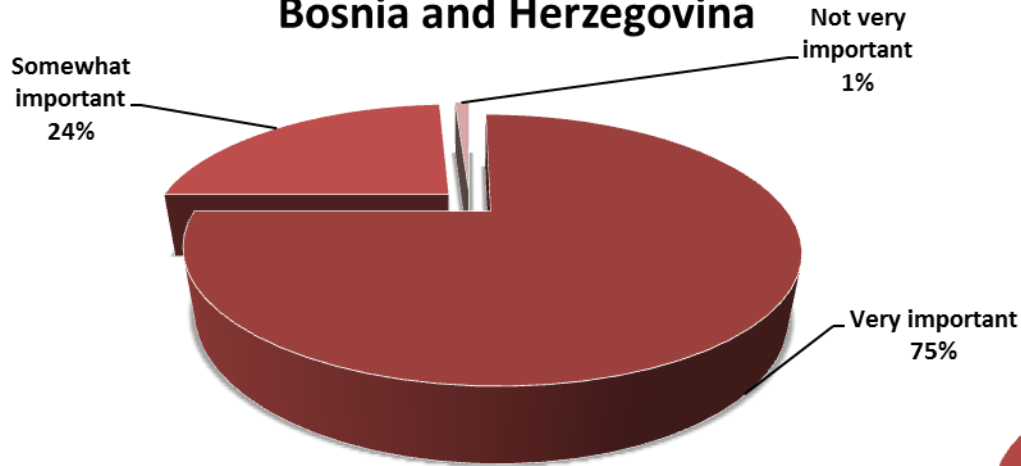

Why New Data Archives / Services?

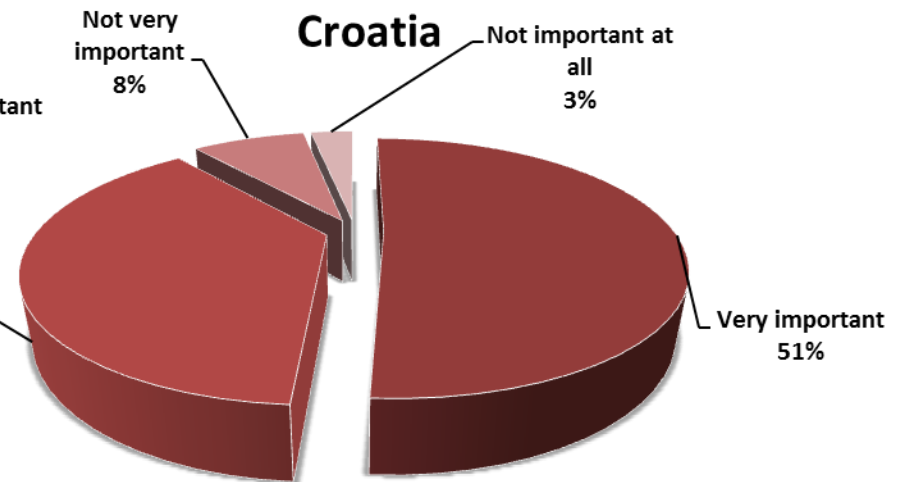

- ▶ Researchers interviewed in Western Balkan countries share 3-10% of data collected in social science in some kind of repository (that is not open access)
- ▶ Data remains on personal computers with researchers and is not available to anyone else after research ends in 80-90% of cases
- ▶ Almost 60% of all respondents have produced 5-21 data sets in their research in the past 5 years that are not accessible to anyone apart from their research teams

Researchers believe it is important to share data

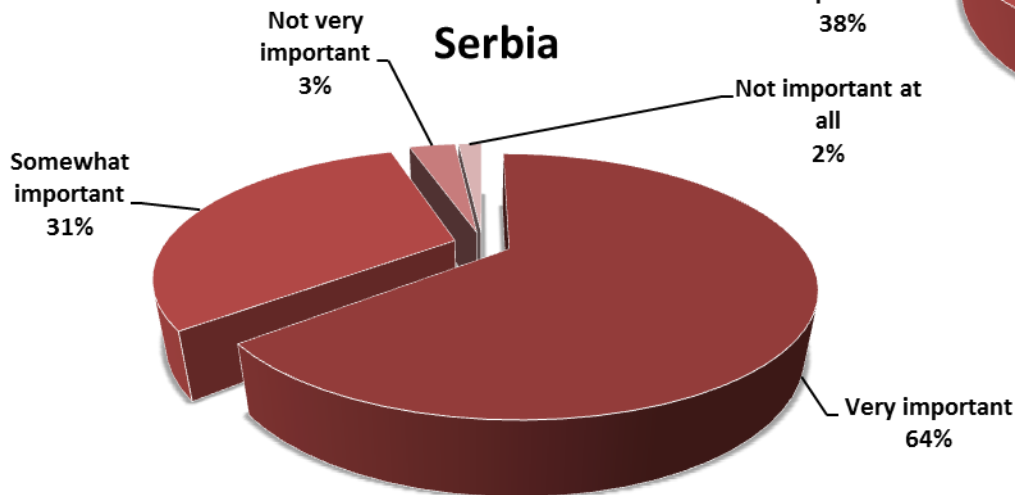

Bosnia and Herzegovina

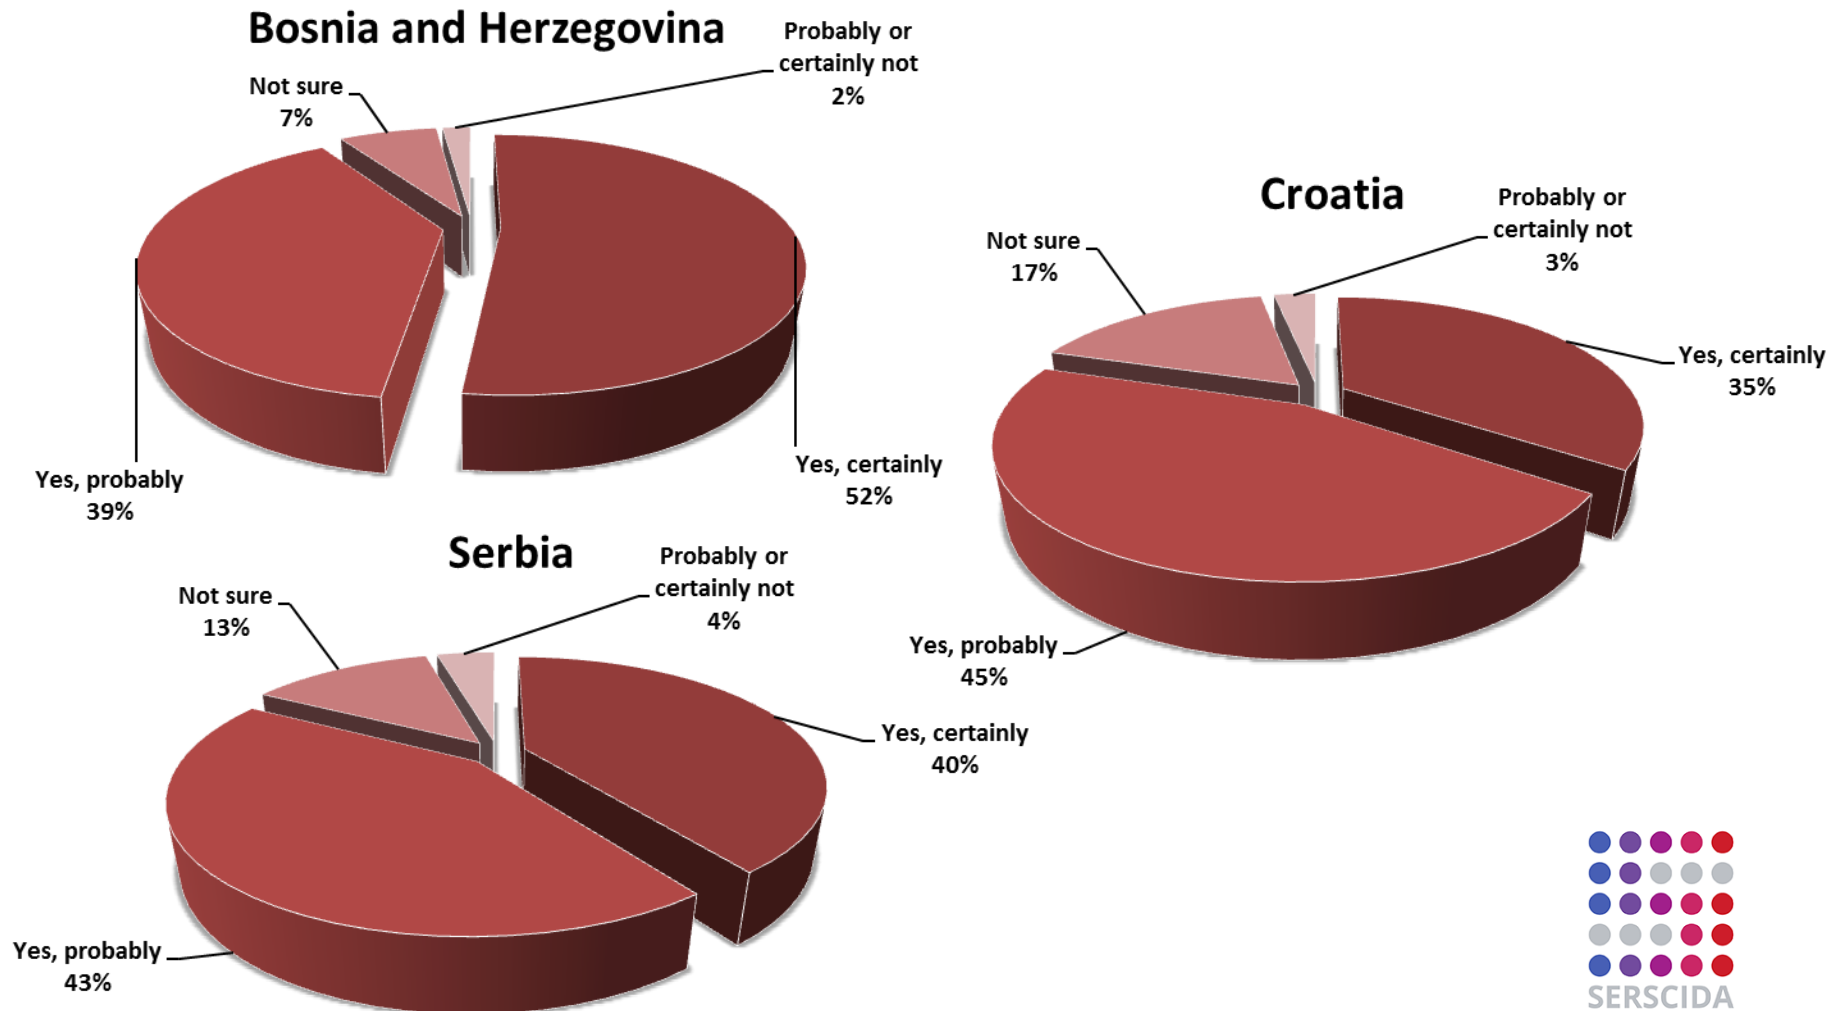

Croatia

Serbia

Researchers willing to provide research data to archive - provided data is safely preserved & access regulated

Watch out for New Data Archives/Services in:

- ▶ Bosnia and Herzegovina – USDAS – University Sarajevo Digital Data Archive and Services,
 - ▶ Hosted by the Human Rights Centre, 2014
- ▶ Croatia – supported by the Croatian Science Foundation
 - ▶ University of Zagreb Philosophy Faculty, Institute Ruđer Bošković and SRCE, 2015
- ▶ Serbia – supported by the Croatian Science Foundation
 - ▶ Institute for Economic Science of the Ministry of Science and Technology of Serbia with Information Technology Centre of the University of Belgrade, 2014
